IN MEMORIAM

IN LOVING remembrance of my dear Husband, Father, Grandfather, and Brother, William Ray Baldwin, who departed this life 19 years the 13th of July, 1951.

They say time will heal all sorrow,
But with me it proves untrue.
I will always love and miss you,
And cherish my memories of you.

It is true at times I smile
But inside it is inward pain.
You still live within my heart,
And I love you just the same.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But memories you have left us,
Are forever here to say.

Sadly missed by wife, children, grandchildren and sisters. Mrs. Ray Baldwin, Evergreen, Va. 7-16-1p

ATTEND INSTITUTE
Virginia Ann Welch, Pamplin City, Randolph Henry High School and Elizabeth G. Chappell, Dillwyn, Buckingham Central High School are among 91 rising junior and senior high school students of Virginia who completed a three week Institute entitled "Communication in the Arts" at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, on Friday, July 10. This Institute was held under the auspices of the Virginia Commission of the Arts and Humanities with the cooperation of the Stafford County School Division, Mary Washington College, the Virginia State Board of Education, and the U S Department of Education through partial use of Title III funds. The Institute for the 91 students is a part of an 8 week session organized by the Stafford County School Division for an additional 80 talented students of that county. Both groups have been attending joint sessions during the mornings and making tours to see various Art programs in areas of the State within driving distance of Fredericksburg. The expenses of 29 of the Institute's 91 students were taken care of through scholarships given by the Virginia Commission of the Arts and Humanities upon recommendation of high school principals or other faculty members.

Richardson, home economics instructor. Teacher aides approved were Mrs. Janice Lacks and Mrs. Mildred Jones.

Supt. Smith informed the board that a Special Needs Project has received the necessary federal funding. The project involves vocational - agriculture and home economics training for 50 boys and girls in the 7th and 8th grades. Most of the pupils are over-age for their grade, Smith said, and the program is designed to combine vocational instruction with basic and remedial work in reading and arithmetic. If the project proves workable and worth-while it will be continued each year, he said, in order to carry young people through the high school years, also.

The board approved a motion by R. H. Gray that Sup. Smith consider the organization of an advisory group to confer with the school board, a recommendation made recently by the Appomattox County School Trustees Electoral Board.

Supt. Smith, in reporting progress toward meeting accreditation standards said that all teachers (as of July a year ago) are teaching during a three year probationary period. Further, that all teachers with a normal - academic professional certificate are required to complete six hours credit in order to teach in the public system.

Supt. Smith reported on his meeting with Appomattox supervisors concerning a county-wide referendum on issuing $2 million in bonds to finance the new county high school. (see separate article).

Two resignations were submitted to the board, the first by Mrs. Harriett Cunningham, who plans to teach in Robert E. Lee Academy and the second by Joseph Lewis, who has accepted a position in Richmond.

Mr. Jesse Paulette has accepted a full-time position with the school system as bus driver and mechanic.
